

MAY FINISH BILL IN HOUSE BY SATURDAY

Underwood Thinks Debate In House Will Be Finished By Saturday Night

DEFEAT AMENDMENTS

Democrats Vote Down All Proposed Amendments to Metal Schedule

INDULGE IN PERSONALITIES

WASHINGTON, APRIL 30.—"I think we will finish with the tariff bill in the house by Saturday night," Democratic Leader Underwood said tonight after an all day debate on the iron and steel schedule.

The metal schedule is only the third of the fourteen schedules which are followed by the free list, the technicalities of the administrative provisions and the income tax plan, and many of the members of the house are prepared to see the debate stretch into next week. Representative Gardner of Massachusetts one of the Republican members of the ways and means committee figured on passage of the revision measure about next Tuesday night. But Mr. Underwood, smiling and confident, saw nothing to disturb the plan for shifting the scene of the tariff battle to the senate with the opening of next week.

The Democratic leader does not believe a special rule will be necessary to put the bill through. The plan is to have the measure adopted within an hour after the reading for amendments has been concluded.

Defeat All Amendments.

All day and again tonight the Democrats with their overwhelming majority bowled over all amendments proposed by the Republicans and Progressives. The ways and means committee, however, had ready and carried a number of its own amendments, all of a minor character and designed to perfect the classifications.

The iron and steel schedule was the particular target of attack and Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania in charge of that schedule for the ways and means committee was frequently reminded from the Republican side of the fact that the Bethlehem Steel company was in his district. Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican leader, and others charged that the duty on ferro manganese was distinctly in the interest of the United States Steel corporation with its numerous subsidiary plants, and that the enhancement of the value of ferro manganese in this country under the proposed advance in rate, should be sufficient to warrant the Pennsylvania member's indefinite continuance in congress.

Will Not "Prolong the Agony."

Mr. Mann declared, however, that while he thought the pending bill would be very injurious to the country, he did not believe in "prolonging the agony" unnecessarily and suggested that "as we are to have the passage in the present form, the sooner the better."

Personalities were indulged in several times during the day, particularly during the discussion of the United States Steel corporation holdings in the Minnesota mines when Representative Stanley of Kentucky and Miller of Minnesota, engaged in a bitter exchange. Representative Underwood also replied vigorously to statements by Mr. Stanley concerning Alabama iron and steel companies.

Representative Austin of Tennessee (Republican) said Charles M. Schwab had succeeded in getting free iron ore after trying unsuccessfully to get it from Republican ways and means committees.

Rep. Kreider Criticized.

When Representatives A. F. Krieger, a new Republican member from Pennsylvania, offered an amendment tonight to put on hooks and eyes used in shoe manufacture on the free list, he aroused criticism from Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, who declared Mr. Krieger was a "shoe manufacturer, the president of the American Shoe Manufacturers' association, whose amendment will put money into his own pocket."

Minority Leader Mann replied that if members were to be thus criticized congressmen from the farms would be restrained from discussing products of the farm.

He said that Mr. Underwood need not apologize to the house for anything; but Mr. Underwood answered with a vigorous statement.

"If I could not represent my constituency and at the same time the people of the United States without involving myself as a special pleader for interests in my district, I would be unworthy of my position in this house."

"I contend that when representatives of the people stand in this house exercising the power to tax people of this country that it is at least becoming for them to display a selfish interest in those matters. The time has passed when the laws of this country will be special for special interests, when men can come and ask for legislation to convert dollars from the pockets of

PRESIDENT WILSON SPENDS BUSY DAY

PREPARES FOR HIS SPEAKING TRIP TO NEW JERSEY TODAY

Despatches as Much Work as Possible in Order to Be Able to Get Away For His Two Day Tour of New Jersey Which Begins Today.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 30.—President Wilson to day put in one of the hardest days of work since he has been at the white house. He talked with a greater number of callers than ever before and dispatched as much work for the week as possible in order to prepare his departure for New Jersey tomorrow on a two day speaking trip from interfering with national business. Before he leaves tomorrow he will have a three hour conference with western senators about the tariff.

For the most part to day was spent in talking with members of congress about proper appointments, but the president was also busy on the Japanese situation. Senator Poindexter of Washington had the most extended conference. Many names of prospective appointees were submitted to the president by the president, the Democratic organization of Washington having let it be known that although the senator was a Progressive Republican his judgment on matters of appointments would be accepted.

Senator Cummins of Iowa was consulted about the prospective appointment of Louis Murphy of Dubuque, Iowa, as collector of internal revenue for the Northern district of that state while Senators LaFollette and Stephenson of Wisconsin were asked if they had any objection to the appointment of Joseph E. Davies of Madison, Wisconsin, secretary of the Democratic national committee as commissioner of corporations. No objections were recorded.

The president made the usual inquiry of courtesy of Senators Oliver and Penrose of Pennsylvania concerning the nomination, expected to go to the senate tomorrow of George W. Guthrie as ambassador to Japan. Mr. Guthrie was once mayor of Pittsburgh and is the Democratic state chairman of Pennsylvania.

MEXICAN FEDERAL FORCES WILL LEAVE JUAREZ

Receive Orders to Proceed to Chihuahua City, the State Capital.

El Paso, Texas, April 30.—Federal forces are to evacuate Juarez, opposite this point, the most important port of entry on the border and terminus of the Mexican Central railway. Orders to hasten to Chihuahua City, the state capital, were received late today by Colonel Juan N. Vasquez at the Juarez garrison.

The projected movement is in keeping with the general order issued some days ago that all federal forces in the state mobilize at Chihuahua City, threatened by attack from the south.

Already the constitutionalists are pressing close to Juarez from the territory along the Rio Grande to the east.

American Killed By Rebels.

Mexico City, April 30.—William B. A. Dingwall an American citizen with the owner of a foundry and a director of the Santa Maria de la Paz Mining company was killed by the rebels tonight at Matamoros, Matamoros, state of San Luis Potosi, according to reports which have reached here.

Dingwall who is said to have been one of the wealthiest residents of the district was killed owing to his refusal to give up money to the rebels.

HUDSON KNOCKED OUT.

Windsor, Ont., April 30.—Johnny Hudson of Chicago, champion bantam weight, tonight knocked out Tommy Hudson of Detroit in the fifth round of a scheduled eight round bout.

masses into their own that they may grow rich."

The committee completed consideration of the metal schedule after many amendments had been offered and rejected.

Representative Austin of Tennessee failed in an effort to restore the Payne rate on aluminum, seven cents a pound. He argued that the Underwood rate of 25 per cent would deprive American labor of more than $1,000,000 in four years. Representative Palmer declaring that the American Aluminum company had a monopoly in this country and in France, insisted that if any rate in the bill was justified it was the aluminum rate.

O'HARA WILL STAY AND CLEAN UP SPRINGFIELD

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST COMMISSION WILL NOT HALT INVESTIGATION

Cement Workers Write Letter To Lieut. Governor Approving Character of the Work—Other Springfield News.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., APRIL 30.—"We are going to stay here until we clean up Springfield," declared Lieut. Gov. O'Hara of the senate "white slave" commission tonight when asked if the demonstration against the commission last night would halt the investigation.

This morning the commission gave out the following letter from Local Union No. 8, Cement Workers and Helpers Union, approving the character of the investigation.

"Lieutenant Governor B. O'Hara, State House, Springfield, Ill.

"My Dear Sir:

"At a meeting of the executive board of Cement Workers and Helpers Union No. 8 of Springfield, Ill., held Sunday afternoon at their headquarters, 210 1/2 South Fifth street, the discussion came up in regard to the Vice-Commission investigation, conducted by you and your committee, and after thoroughly discussing this question, and especially that part in regard to the Shoe factory incident, your action was unanimously indorsed and we are glad to know that we have a man like you at the head of this commission, that is fearless, and not afraid to take the proper stand, and always looking to the interests of the people of the state of Illinois.

"Trusting that you and the members of your committee will meet with the best of success in all your undertakings, and gain the point desired, we are

Respectfully yours,

William Fifield, Rec. Sec.

J. J. Fox, President.

Tonight officials of the union charge a breach of confidence, stating that the communication was not a public document and should have been considered private.

Robert E. Woodmansee, secretary of Springfield Federation of Labor, to day approved the low wages upon file added:

"I do not look with approval upon an investigation that assumes that a girl cannot work for a low wage and remain virtuous.

"I believe it is unjust to condemn innocent working girls before the commission has questioned them in the same inquiry in which women of the streets are asked the causes of their downfall."

Lieutenant Governor O'Hara announced this evening that the vice commission has not concluded the Springfield investigation but he did not know when the inquiry would be resumed.

Mr. O'Hara stated that one of the girls employed in the International shoe company's local factory, who was a witness before the commission, had complained to him that William Alexander, the foreman under whom she is employed, had subjected her to various humiliations upon her return to work today.

Lieutenant Governor O'Hara said he had advised the girl to return to her work tomorrow morning and if Alexander continued to harass her to let him know.

The commission will go to Rockford tomorrow night.

Bills Introduced in House.

Three bills covering necessary changes in the primary law and general election laws of the state to conform with the newly adopted amendment to the United States constitution providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, passed the senate.

Representative Devine introduced a resolution in the house today calling for an investigation of industrial, accident and insurance companies, which are charged with standing upon technicalities in refusing to settle losses.

The house committee on elections today adopted the report of its subcommittee, ousting Representative H. W. Harris, Socialist, from the twenty-first district, and seating Edwin T. Farrar, the Democratic candidate. The elections committee dismissed the contest against Representative Medill McCormick, Progressive, today, but later reconsidered its action and postponed further action on the case until next Tuesday.

The house committee on temperance at its meeting today reported out with favorable recommendations the "five mile" bill creating a dry zone round the United States Naval Training station near Waukegan and bills to extend the present powers of cities over liquor traffic to a zone two miles outside the corporate limits and prohibit the selling of liquor within 400 feet of a church, school or hospital. The senate committee on license and miscellany this afternoon voted out with favorable recommendation the prize fight bill and later, in the presence of Miss Lucy Page Gaston and Dr. D. H. Kress, officers of the anti-cigarette league, practically killed the anti-cigarette bill by postponing action for one week.

The prize fight measure legalizes ten round bouts with six ounce gloves and creates a state athletic commission of three persons at salaries of $5,000 a year each to superintend athletic clubs.

It is reported that an exhibition for members of the legislature and the public generally is to be given in this city on Wednesday night of next week.

The bill prohibiting free lunches in dramshops was voted out with favorable recommendation by the committee.

WILSON DECLINES TO DISCUSS WEBB BILL

President Does Not Deem It Prudent to State Attitude at This Time

TO BE STUDIED FURTHER

Proposals Require More Consideration Before Attitude of Nat'l Gov't Is Announced

ANTI-ALIEN FEELING GENERAL

WASHINGTON, APRIL 30.—Inquiry at the white house today as to what might be President Wilson's attitude toward the Webb bill with its affirmative clause permitting all aliens eligible to citizenship to acquire land in California, on which California legislative leaders are now said to be agreed, brought the information that the president deemed it prudent not to discuss at this time the negotiations toward an adjustment of the controversy.

The president let it be known that the entire subject was in a delicate status and that it was necessary further to study the proposals of the California legislative leaders before the position of the national government could be announced. It is believed that the Japanese ambassador will be sounded out as to the probable reception of the Webb bill in Japan, and the legal officers of the state department may render an opinion as to whether the language now employed could be construed as a discrimination or in conflict with treaty obligations.

Mission Not Completed.

There is no disposition at the white house to regard Secretary Bryan's mission as having been completed. Mr. Bryan probably will stay on the ground until the Webb matter is definitely cleared up.

Officials here commented today on the apparent fact that anti-alien agitation suddenly brought into prominence through the proceedings of California legislature is not confined to California, but extends over the whole Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain section, even as far north as Alaska.

It was also pointed out that recent conferences of southern senators in congress, indicated that the sympathies of that section were strongly with the Californians in this issue.

It was regarded as probable that the president immediately upon the return of Secretary Bryan will begin consideration of a general policy for the treatment of the important question of extent to which the national government should go towards enforcing the treaty rights of aliens within the states. The negotiations with the Japanese government which are expected to follow the exaction in California probably will be the means of developing this policy.

May Undertake New Treaty.

The president may deem it advisable to undertake the negotiation of a new treaty of trade and commerce with Japan and though it is realized that agreement on such a convention, satisfying to Japanese pride yet permanently guarding against a Japanese invasion would be fraught with great difficulty, some of the officials are inclined to the belief that the thing can be done.

Meanwhile beyond speculating upon the possibilities of developments in Sacramento and perhaps quietly admonishing the territorial authorities of Alaska to abstain from any such action in the direction of discriminating against Japanese fishermen as would add to its difficulty, there is little that can be done in Washington until Secretary Bryan returns to the capital.

LUTHER MCARTY OUTFIGHTS PITTSBURGH HEAVY WEIGHT

Luther Finishes Ten Round Bout With Moran Strong and Wins Popular Decision.

New York, April 30.—Luther McCarty outfought Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavy-weight in a ten round bout here tonight. The fighting was at a fast pace for heavyweights.

Moran did most of the leading and frequently the men stood toe to toe and exchanged freely their hardest blows.

McCarty had the better of the first round but Moran evened it up in the next. In the third the fighters' heads came together in a mixup, slightly cutting Moran.

In the fourth Moran landed a straight left, drawing blood from McCarty's nose. The fifth was even but McCarty took the next two.

McCarty tired in the eighth a left hook sending him to the ropes and in the ninth Moran got in some more good blows. McCarty finished strong, landing often in the last round, while Moran, who kept boring in, was wild and missed most of his blows.

FINAL ACTION ON WEBB BILL WILL BE HELD TODAY

BILL WILL HAVE RIGHT OF WAY IN SENATE FOR FINAL ACTION

Vote Will Form Expression of Legislature's Attitude Toward the Secretary of State's Visit—Act is Most Drastic Yet Proposed.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., APRIL 30.—An open right of way for final action in the senate tomorrow morning on the Webb anti-alien land act was prepared today by the floor leaders to the upper house, and before tomorrow night a concrete expression of the legislature's attitude toward Secretary of State Bryan's diplomatic visit will be at hand in the shape of a vote on the most drastic land-holding act yet proposed.

Secretary Bryan spent the day in San Francisco, not returning until late tonight. During his absence, the original plan to permit no further delay was carried out, and when the senate adjourned tonight the Webb bill, was due to be reached within a few minutes after the upper house convenes tomorrow.

Administration leaders stated tonight that they expected the act to be passed in its present form.

Webb Act Drastic.

The Webb act is said to be more drastic and effective in reaching the Japanese farmers of the state than any other proposed measure and at the same time least objectionable of all from an international point of view. Senator Thompson declared tonight that the bill provided for the "immediate and direct solution of the Japanese problem," and to this extent it is the most rigid and uncompromising measure that has been suggested. He denied that the wording of the act, or any part of it, can be taken as a concession to the objections of Secretary Bryan, and Governor Johnson stated today that from what he understood of the situation the measure did not have the approval of President Wilson.

"It is altogether probable that we would have reached this form of bill in any case," said Senator Thompson, "and it cannot be fairly said that the draft prepared by Attorney General Webb reflects any of the sentiments of Mr. Bryan except his desire that we do not offend any one, and that of course has been our guiding principle from the beginning. At no time have we had a wish to offend the people of any nation, and our desire to avoid the words 'ineligible to citizenship' has been quite as strong as that of the federal administration."

"Those words are not used in the Webb bill, but I do not hesitate to say that the effect and result is precisely the same as if they were included and it will be so understood. There was no way to avoid it."

Puts End to Jap Farm Colonies.

A close study of the Webb bill shows the full extent of the restrictions placed upon aliens who are not permitted to become citizens, although the limitations are precisely those imposed in the existing treaties between the United States and Japan, China and other nations whose subjects are ineligible.

In the case of the Japanese, they are prohibited entirely from acquiring or holding land for farming or agricultural purposes and it is declared the passage of the act will put an end, not only to the growth of Japanese farming colonies, but eventually to the colonies themselves.

This purpose of the act is effected in two ways:

1. On the death of an alien land owner the bill provides that his ownership be ceased and that the property must be taken over by the probate court and sold to the highest bidder. Under its terms an alien cannot bequeath real property except to a citizen. The proceeds from the sale of such lands are distributed to the heirs by the court.

2. No leases whatsoever are permitted. Originally it was planned to permit leases covering a maximum period of three to five years, but the Webb act denies this opportunity for colonization by aliens and provides that any lease of agricultural lands is subject to escheat to the state on the day it is begun. To make this more effective the bill provides that when suit is begun to escheat such leases the court shall appraise the lease, sell the property at a forced sale and pay the value of the lease into the state. The remainder of the proceeds shall go to the citizen owner of the land.

It is held that this section of the act will be absolutely prohibitory upon all leases of agricultural lands, whether for gardening purposes or otherwise.

According to Senator Thompson who has made a study of the bill, the theory is as follows:

Only citizens and those eligible to become citizens may be proprietors of land. They may employ Japanese and Chinese but they cannot lease or otherwise give such aliens an interest or share in their proprietorship. Such land as is now held by Japanese and Chinese cannot be bequeathed to their alien heirs. It must be sold.

"The practical result of the bill," Senator Thompson said, "will be that all further acquisitions will be prevented, leading colonies will be exterminated, and at the end of the present generation, most of the land now held by Japanese and Chinese will be owned by citizens."

DEDICATE MEMORIAL TO THOMAS JEFFERSON

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ATTEND CEREMONIES AT ST. LOUIS

Memorial Building Costing $450,000 Was Opened to the Public and a Great Marble Statue of Jefferson Was Unveiled.

ST. LOUIS, MO., APRIL 30.—The federal government the City of St. Louis and the directors of the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904 united to day in the last of the multitude of ceremonies witnessed here as a result of the famous exposition—the dedication of an imposing memorial to Thomas Jefferson.

The ceremonies were favored with perfect weather, and thousands of persons lined Lindell Boulevard to witness the military and civic parade that passed down that avenue to Forest Park where the dedication exercises simultaneously were taking place. Other thousands had assembled at Forest Park, and there witnessed the ceremonies that marked the opening of the memorial, a $450,000 building to the public.

Marble Statue Unveiled.

The dedication exercises were held outdoors before the great arch within which is a great marble statue of Thomas Jefferson, unveiled to day by Miss Natalie Norton of Elsbury, Mo., a lineal descendant of Jefferson. After the unveiling of the statue, the presentation of the memorial to the city—a bronze tablet showing Jefferson in the act of signing the Declaration of Independence—Prof. William Thompson of the University of Virginia spoke on the signing of the Louisiana Purchase Treaty.

United States Senator W. L. Jones of Washington made a speech on behalf of the congressional delegation that attended the ceremonies. He said:

"Jefferson saw with a vision beyond his day the destiny of a people dedicated to the doctrine of equal and free opportunity. We are nearing steadily that ideal and his words are our inspiration."

Governors Were Present.

The ceremonies to day were participated in by the governors of Illinois and Missouri, with their staffs and by the members of the Pan American legations at Washington who are in St. Louis to attend the peace congress which begins tomorrow.

The celebration which marked the hundred and tenth anniversary of the signing of the Louisiana Purchase Treaty and the tenth anniversary of the dedication of the St. Louis World's fair closed tonight with a banquet in honor of the visiting officials and the invited guests.

STATESMEN DISCUSS REPUBLICAN CONDITIONS

Cannon, Lowden, McKinley and Others Meet in Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., April 30.—"Uncle" Joe Cannon of Danville, former speaker of the national house of congressmen, Col. Frank O. Lowden and former Congressman William M. McKinley of Champaign, met here to day and discussed Republican political conditions. Robert Clark of Peoria and Harry Ward of DuQuoin were with them.

All explained that their meeting here to day and even the fact of their being here was accidental. Despite the fact that the former Republican leaders denied their presence here had any political significance it is known that three former congressmen who were defeated in the last election, Mr. Cannon, Mr. McKinley and Mr. Rodeberg want to make the race again.

It is reported that Col. Lowden and the gentlemen who were with him here to day are looking over the field with a view to making the former Republican national committeeman the candidate of the old Republican organization for senator in opposition to Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman who will be a candidate to succeed himself.

RADICAL CHANGE IN DEPOSIT SYSTEM

McAdoo Revolutionizes System Governing Deposits of Federal Funds

MUST PAY INTEREST

All Government Depositories Will Pay Interest at Rate of Two Per Cent After June 1st

ALSO CHANGE IN SECURITIES

WASHINGTON, APRIL 30.—The fiscal system of the United States governing deposits of federal funds in national banks was revolutionized today by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department with an announcement that all government depositories whether active or inactive, would be required to pay interest at the rate of two per cent per annum beginning June 1 upon deposits of the government. Simultaneously with this action, the secretary authorized an immediate increase of $10,000,000 in government deposits in the national banks, making the total $82,649,964 from which the federal treasury will earn, under the new interest order $1,053,000 annually. There are indications that Secretary McAdoo intends to release still more surplus money from the treasury vaults and place it in general circulation through increased deposits with the national banks. In a statement tonight he said:

"With the banks paying interest on government deposits the secretary may be justified in keeping larger balances in the national banks, thereby increasing the volume of money in circulation and to that extent reducing the amount locked up in the treasury."

Change in Securities.

Mr. McAdoo also announced a radical change in the character of securities which the treasury department would accept for government deposits. Instead of requiring that the national banks secure treasury deposits exclusively with United States or provincial government bonds, they will be allowed in the future to secure seventy per cent with government bonds and the remaining thirty per cent with high class state, city and county bonds, acceptable to the secretary of the treasury to be taken as security at 75 per cent of their market value, but not to exceed par.

This is the first time in history that the treasury department has called upon the banks to pay interest on what are known as active deposits or accepted, except in periods of financial stress, security other than government bonds. Active depositories are those which conduct a checking account for the government cashing checks of the disbursing officers and replenishing their authorized government deposits from customs and internal revenue receipts deposited with them. There are nine hundred active depositories each holding $1,000 of government funds. Upon these deposits which are not disturbed by checking accounts the government has drawn two interest bonds for the past five years. These are the only government accounts which ever have earned interest.

Agitated For Years.

For years there has been agitation in and out of congress to assess the national banks interest on their government deposit. This invariably has been resisted by previous administrations of the treasury on the theory that the banks with active accounts performed much clerical work for the government. The house committee on expenditures at the last session investigated the question and recommended that the secretary of the treasury be required to charge interest for the use of the government's money.

Secretary McAdoo tonight declared he did not anticipate any serious resistance on the part of the banks to the new policy. If any bank was disposed to surrender its account by reason of the order he said there were many others willing to take its place.

Charge Based on Average Balance.

The two per cent interest charge will be based upon the average monthly balances of the government's act in each depository, payable Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year. The $10,000,000 today ordered transferred from the treasury vaults to the national banks will be distributed over the country.

The free balance in the general fund and in the part of the Philippine treasury and in the national bank depositories amounted at the beginning of business today to $141,025,263.

This $72,791,405, which will now be decreased by $10,000,000, constitutes the working balance of the government or money lying idle in the vaults of the treasury or sub-treasuries.

Treasury experts estimate that the minimum upon which the government can transact its daily business is $15,000,000 and that a substantial portion of the working balance could with ease be deposited.

BALKAN QUESTION SHOWS NO NEW DEVELOPMENT

Last Hope of Avoiding Complications Lies in Today's Ambassadorial Conference.

London, April 30.—The Balkan question showed no development here today. The Austrian ambassador had a prolonged conference with Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, was also consulted by the Russian ambassador. A Constantinople despatch says that the porte has ordered Essad Pasha to disarm and disband his native troops and send the regulars to Bierut.

Both Austria and Montenegro, according to Vienna advices, are continuing their military preparations. Montenegro has despatched 5,000 troops drawn from Scutari towards the Austrianna frontier and has mounted heavy guns above Cattaro. Great ministerial and diplomatic activity prevails in Vienna, where a council of war was held at the foreign office this evening.

Ambassadors Meet Today.
Rome, April 30.—It is considered here that the last hope of avoiding the gravest complications in the Balkan situation lies in the meeting of Ambassadors in London tomorrow, when the question of united action by the European powers is expected to be decided.

The general fear in Rome is that Great Britain, France and Russia, not because they desire discord but because they do not wish to back Austria in immediate action against Montenegro, may procrastinate, thus forcing the isolation of Austria. In such case, Italy, for the protection of her own interests, will almost certainly intervene to ensure order in Albania and enforce there the decisions of Europe.

"LEND A MILLION."

Method of Negotiating Loans in New York's Stock Exchange.

The machinery of lending money on the New York Stock Exchange is very different from the machinery of making individual loans. On the Stock Exchange all loans are handled by brokers, members of the exchange, who represent the banks. These brokers form what is known as the "money crowd," which on a day of 50 per cent money becomes rather animated. Nineteenth of the money loaned on call by banks is loaned by these brokers. When a bank has $1,000,000 to lend on call the cashier calls up his money broker on the exchange and says curtly to the telephone clerk, "Lend a million." The clerk rushes the order to the broker, who offers the $1,000,000 to the highest bidder in the "money crowd" in much the same way as a broker on the Chicago board of trade would offer 1,000 bushels of wheat.

In an active money market the $1,000,000 will be snapped up in a minute. In that case the cashier will be called up on the telephone, to hear the money broker's clerk say hurriedly, "Loaned a million for you to John Smith & Co. at 6 per cent." The giving and filling of such an order take only five minutes. In an 80 per cent money market, when brokers are clamoring for money, it may be done in two minutes.

The broker's connection with the transaction ends when he has notified the bank of the borrower's name and the rate agreed on. The borrower takes his collateral to the bank, where an officer passes upon it after it is properly checked up by the loan clerk, and a cashier's check is then given for the amount of the loan. Whether the borrower pays 2, 6, 20 or 80 per cent for his money depends wholly on the amount there is to lend and the extent of the demand. If $25,000,000 has been sent to the "money crowd" to put out and speculation is so dull that only $10,000,000 is required to carry the stocks bought it is safe to say that the borrower will pay only 2 per cent.

During a period of extremely easy money rates thousands of loans are made on call at 1 per cent and sometimes one-half of 1 per cent. If, on the other hand, the Stock Exchange members wish to borrow $50,000,000 and the banks offer that day only $10,000,000, as they often did in panic times, the borrower may have to bid as high as 80 per cent for his money. At that rate he would pay $2,222 a day for the use of the $1,000,000.—New York Post.

Faint Heart Lost a Royal Lady.

Fifty years or so ago the Grand Duchess Olga, the beautiful favorite daughter of Czar Nicholas I., was on the point of eloping with a handsome young lieutenant, Bariatinski, when at the last moment her swain's heart failed him. Dreading the emperor's anger, he made a clean breast of the whole affair to his majesty, with the result that the impulsive young princess was married posthaste to the disreputable Prince Charles of Wurtemberg, while the faithless lover was rewarded by such rapid promotion that he was a field marshal before he reached his fiftieth birthday.

Many Kinds of Days in One.

A mean solar day is the average or mean of all the apparent solar days in a year. Mean solar time is that shown by a well regulated clock or watch, while apparent solar time is that shown by a well constructed sundial. The difference between the two at any time is the equation of time and may amount to sixteen minutes and twenty-one seconds. The astronomical day begins at noon and the civil day at the preceding midnight. The sidereal and mean solar days are both invariable, but one day of the latter is equal to 1 day, 3 minutes and 56.555 seconds of the former.

Buried Upside Down.

On Box Hill, in Surrey, may be seen the tomb of a man who was, by his own special request, buried upside down in a coffin placed in a marble casing. With his head to the earth and his feet to the sky he calmly awaits the judgment day, so the story runs, in the belief that heaven is under the ground and that, believing this, it was his duty to be buried with his head toward it.—London Tit-Bits.

Quick Mustard Plaster.

A trained nurse says that if one forgets the exact proportions for making a mustard plaster one can be quickly made by cutting a thick slice of bread, dipping it for just a second in hot water, then spreading with white of egg and sprinkling thickly with mustard. The egg will prevent blistering.—New York Times.

The Plot.

"What is the plot of this play?" asked the manager. "It isn't complete," replied the author. "The plot is to get a lot of people to pay $2 each to see it, and I think we'll do it if you will come in on the conspiracy."—Washington Star.

Her Grief.

He—Why don't you give me a dance before midnight? Young Widow—Well, you see, at 11:30 tonight it will be a year since my husband died. I must honor his memory properly and not dance until after the year is up.—Fliegende Blätter.

Ahead and Behind.

Wife of Denier Cri Artist—Poor Edgar! He's 100 years ahead of his time. Landlord—I can't help that. He's three months behind in his rent.—Life.

Sin and penalty go through the world with their heads tied together.—Plato.

Came On Business of Private Nature—Say However That Scene of Investigations May Be Shifted To Jacksonville.

Two members of the Illinois senate vice-commission were in Jacksonville yesterday for a few hours.

It was stated that they were here wholly on private business and that their presence had no relation to the "investigating" that is now being done. However it was intimated also that later on, probably within three weeks, the committee intends to visit Jacksonville officially and to take testimony relative to the wages paid working girls here.

Charges That Great Injustice Is Being Done Working Girls By Bringing Them in Contact With People of the Underworld.

R. E. Woodman, formerly a resident of this city and now of Springfield where he is serving as secretary of the Federation of Labor and as president of the school board does not approve of the methods being employed by the Illinois senate "vice commission." In an interview in the Springfield News Mr. Woodman said:

"So far as the investigation concerns low wages, I am heartily in favor of it," Mr. Woodman said. "It is true that hundreds of girls and women in Springfield are working for a very small fraction of what they ought to be getting and any movement towards increasing their pay I approve."

"I do not look with approval however, upon an investigation that assumes that a girl cannot work for a small wage and be virtuous. I believe it is unjust to summon innocent working girls before the commission and question them in the same inquiry in which women of the streets and the 'red light' district are asked the causes of their downfall."

"This coupling of the names of working women and strumpets I most heartily condemn. It seems to me the commission is working to lift the purpose at present. An investigation to determine why girls and women who work are not paid an adequate wage for their services, with a view to seeing that they get what they earn, is entirely in accord with the belief of every man interested in the labor movement. But it is not in accord with my belief, at least, to drag good, clean girls before the vice commission to be investigated."

ARRANGE FOR NEEDLECRAFT EXHIBIT

The committee on exhibits for the chautauqua, of which Bernard Gause is chairman, has arranged for an exhibit of needlecraft, which will be in charge of Mrs. Helen Strawn King. Mrs. King is a former resident of this city and has made a business of the work for a number of years. She conducts a shop in Springfield and has published a book on the subject, called the "Book of Edgings." In addition to an exhibition of needlecraft, instruction will be given.

FINAL ACTION ON WEBB BILL WILL BE HAD TODAY

Bryan Makes No Comment.
San Francisco, April 30.—Secretary Bryan had absolutely no comment to make today on the action of the California senate last night in adopting the Webb re-draft of the alien land bill against his recommendation. On his way from Sacramento to San Francisco where he was the guest today of the Panama-Pacific exposition, he was closeted, most of the time with his private secretary translating a long cipher telegram. He would not indicate its tenor or the nature of his reply. At luncheon, Mr. Bryan was the guest of the exposition directors. There were no speeches. In the afternoon he reviewed the troops at the Presidio, took an automobile ride to Ocean Beach through the government reservation, and dedicated the Palace of Agriculture on the exposition grounds.

A public banquet was this evening given in his honor by the exposition directors.

Governor Johnson's Statement.
Governor Johnson gave out a brief statement tonight in which he commented on the question that has been raised as to the possible ineligibility of the Japanese to citizenship in the United States.

"Substantially it is true that the ineligibility to citizenship of the Japanese and Chinese is the keynote of the Webb bill," he said, "and if it is determined by the courts of last resort that these aliens could become citizens, then of course they would not be affected by this act.

"However, up to this time it never has been suggested that the Japanese were eligible to citizenship and the language of the federal statutes seems very clear on this point.

"I wish to make it plain, especially to the people in the east, that the terms of the proposed law are general in character. They don't single out the Japanese or any other nation but relate to the races not naming them, that are made by the laws of the United States not eligible to citizenship.

Will Hold Mass Meeting at Tokyo.
San Francisco, April 30.—The Japanese-American association of Japan at a meeting held at Tokyo today, according to advices received by the Japanese-American, a local Japanese newspaper adopted a resolution thanking Secretary of State Bryan for his visit to Sacramento and appealed to him to continue his efforts toward a satisfactory solution of the alien land problem in the California legislature.

A cablegram also was received by the newspaper saying a mass meeting would be held tomorrow at the Y. M. C. A., building at Tokyo to protest against the land legislation pending in the California legislature. Among the speakers will be M. Oshi, former minister of agriculture.

Japan Society Protests.
New York, April 30.—Protests against pending anti-Japanese legislation in California were voiced in a message and speech tonight at a meeting of the Japan society, attended by several hundred persons, including many men of prominence. A number of Japanese were in the audience.

Dr. Lyman Abbott in a letter read to the meeting, declared our treaty with Japan was under the national constitution, the supreme law of the land.

"It is the duty of the people of the United States," he added, "to see that this treaty is honorably fulfilled; the people of Japan can rest assured that it will be fulfilled."

He believed that if a fair construction of the treaty proved prejudicial to the best interests of either nation, "the remedy will be found in amicable negotiations for an amendment to the treaty such as will be honorable and satisfactory to both nations."

The Sack Suit.

It is hard for a today's man, as he leans back in his sack suit and tries to think, to imagine a time when the easy and comfortable bolero coat was used and all coats sported tails.

The sack suit originated in France in the thirties, about the same time that our trousers took their present shape. It is possible that the two innovations were correlated, as the changes in coat and trousers have always gone hand in hand. France was the mother of the sack when it was developed from the French blouse, a garment of course linen worn by laborers and peasants. The new coat was at first worn only by laborers, but before long it became very fashionable in France. It did not cross the English channel until 1846 and was not worn in this country much before the civil war. In fact, it was the uniform of the soldiers when they were introduced to the American people. The soldiers found out that the sack suit was so comfortable and so easy to wear, so it became popular. They were adopted by all classes in the United States. New York Sun.

MAY ENCOUNTER HOSTILE DEMONSTRATIONS

London, April 30.—The British delegation now on its way to the United States for the celebration of the Anglo-American peace centenary may encounter some hostile demonstrations. Certain leaders of the extreme Irish and Labor movements are advising their American friends to express opposition to the British mission. Suffragette leaders are appealing to American women to denounce any friendly dealings between the two countries until England gives the vote to women.

Benjamin Tillet, secretary of the Dock, Wharf, Riverside and General Workers' union of Great Britain and Ireland, will send a cablegram to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor asking him to oppose the British delegation.

Aged Farmer Seriously Burned.—Nicholas Challacombs, 89 years old, a farmer near Alton, while alone on his farm burning a pile of rubbish, set fire to his clothes. He rolled on the ground and succeeded in putting out the flames before he lost consciousness. His daughter, Miss Jennie Challacombs, and Lester Loftis, found him an hour later, still unconscious, and burned from the shoe tops to above the hips. They carried him to his home, where a physician pronounced his condition critical.

War on Dandelions.—To exterminate the dandelions, weeds and other undesirable vegetation from the parks, streets and lawns of Springfield, is the project which has been undertaken by the pupils of the public schools in co-operation with the recently organized body, the Junior Civic and Home Garden League of Springfield.

The plan is that each pupil take advantage of their spare moments and start the crusade on the undesired sprouts. The pupils are to bring all collections to their respective schools where a record will be kept and the plants dried and burned. In this way a sort of a contest has been arranged.

State Site Inspected.—An inspection of the site for the new state hospital for the insane which is to be built near Alton has been conducted by three members of the state board of administration and by the sub-committee from the house and senate appropriation committees. Those of the state board who made the inspection were President Fred J. Kern, Alienist Frank P. Norbury and Secretary H. K. Burroughs. The land has been formally transferred to the state for the hospital and as a result of this visit, work, it is expected, will be started soon upon specifications for the new hospital.

Belder went to the home of his wife, from whom he was separated, last Christmas, and broke up a wedding temporarily in which his stepdaughter was a principal by shooting at his wife, mother-in-law and the wedding principals. His mother-in-law was shot in the side. After everyone got away from the house officers surrounded it and Belder fired twenty shots at them, a deputy sheriff finally wounding him in the lung with a shot gun. Tuberculosis has developed from this wound and Belder will never be able to face trial.

HUNGRY OFFICE SEEKERS LINE UP IN FRONT CIVIL SERVICE BUILDING

Awai Opening of Doors at Nine O'Clock This Morning to Get Examination Blanks.

Washington, (April 30.)—Hungry job-hunters, among them many who have despaired of gaining the official pie-counter through official influence gathered in such numbers tonight in the vicinity of the civil service commission headquarters that the police reserves were called out. The gathering was inspired by the fact that on May 1st, the examination blanks for appointments to minor positions are given out.

Long before midnight the crowd began to assemble in front of the building and gained such proportions that the lonely watchman on guard called upon the police for assistance. When the police arrived the mob was formed in line. The commission's doors will be opened at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Stage Money.

Stage money—that is, money of no value—the stage—is first said to have been used by David Garrick in the eighteenth century. The money is said to have been made by the wealthy actor-manager so as to look actually like real money. There was little money, even of this counterfeit kind, used in the days of Shakespeare because of the scarcity of any kind of money, particularly among actors.

Much More So.

"Is there anything more exasperating," asks an exchange, "than a bureau drawer that has constitutional objections to closing up after it has been opened?" Yea, verily, brother—to wit, a bureau drawer that has constitutional objections to being opened after it's been closed.—Chicago News.

Supremely Exasperating.

"Don't you think Mrs. Spurrell has an awful temper?"

"She has, but can you blame the poor woman? She has a husband who just absolutely won't get mad at all."

Dear, Indeed!

"The dear, dear girls!" exclaimed Mrs. Pawkins, looking at her fashionable daughters enthusiastically.

"Yes, the dear, dear girls!" muttered Mr. Pawkins despondently.

Had to Confess.

Wife—Do you mean to tell me you lost $2 at cards? Husband—I don't mean to tell you, but I may as well. You'll find it out anyway.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

No man rejoiceth safely unless he hath within him the testimony of a good conscience.—Thomas a Kempis.

Pimples Should Be Watched

Germs in Most Unexpected

Make Your Blood Pure and Immune
With S. S. S.

The world renowned laboratory of the Swift Specific Company has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases. In thousands of instances the most virulent types have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may now be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own beneficial nutriment. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease. Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood.

CITY OF PEORIA SEEKS FOR CATCHY SLOGAN

Chamber of Commerce Has Offered $25 For Best Phrase—Contest Will Close Today.

The Peoria Association of Commerce is seeking for a slogan and offers a prize of $25.00 for the best one, the contest to close at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The Peoria Star says that answers have come in rapidly and gives a number of samples of slogans entered.

"Slogans were coming in from all the neighboring cities and towns this morning. A special delivery letter from Bloomington this morning contained a slogan as well as some from Elmwood, East Peoria and other near-by cities. Over 600 slogans, long and short, good and bad, have been received since S. L. Nelson, chairman of the committee, offered the prize of $5 for the best slogan. Since that time several members have contributed a similar amount, until yesterday the association itself raised the sum five more.

"The association is very anxious to settle the slogan proposition for once and for all, and therefore they extend the time until Thursday, giving everybody ample time to send in their suggestion. The shortest slogan with the best meaning will be the one adopted by the Peorians—one that will proclaim Peoria's virtues the world round.

"At the session yesterday the committee selected a number of the best slogans out of the 600 already received and the best of the late ones will be added to this list, and the lucky one will be selected from the revised list. The following were selected yesterday:

You will like Peoria.
Try Peoria first.
Peoria, possibilities produce profits.

Push plus pull equals Greater Peoria.
Peoria, the corn belt's buckle.
Peoria, ascension without dispensation.

The still city heard round the world.
A willing hand, a purse unstrung, a strong backbone, the victory's won.

Always Peoria, all ways.
Who's doing it—Peoria.
Hello, Peoria's calling you.
Peoria's the town that buckles the corn belt.

The still city that's never still.
Peoria makes the still city heard.
Peoria the push button of a million live wires.

Take a tip and make a trip to Peoria.
The world's map incomplete without Peoria.
There's peace and plenty in Peoria.

Peoria links the great waters.
Peoria, the gateway of progress.
Peoria, the merit city.
Tell the truth of Peoria, that's all.
Peoria the pivot of the middle west.

Peoria one hundred per cent efficiency.
Peoria high bluffs, high aims, high ideals.
Peoria, the place worth while.
By rail, by water, Peoria.
Peoria, the central terminal.
Uncle Sam's main support.
Peoria, the revenue city.

BARON AVEBURY'S BIRTHDAY.
London, April 30.—Baron Avebury, who is perhaps better known as Sir John Lubbock, which name he bore until his elevation to the peerage some years ago, entered upon his 80th year today and was the recipient of congratulatory messages from many friends on both sides of the Atlantic. Primarily Baron Avebury is a banker, and a very great banker too, one of the greatest in the city of London. He comes of a long line of eminent bankers, and he himself became a partner in Lubbock's bank, in Lombard street, at the age of 22. It is, however, by his scientific works on the ancient vestiges and remains of man that Lord Avebury has most distinguished himself. He has written numerous books, on zoology, physiology and archaeology, and has lectured many times on those subjects before leading universities and scientific societies.

MEMORIAL TO JEFFERSON FORMALLY DEDICATED
Commemorates Acquisition of Territory By Peaceful Methods—Distinguished Company Present.
St. Louis, April 30.—The magnificent Jefferson memorial erected in commemoration of Thomas Jefferson and the acquisition of the Louisiana territory during Jefferson's administration as president of the United States, was today formally dedicated in the presence of a most distinguished company. The dedication ceremonies were most impressive and elaborate.

The international and national appreciation of the significance of the dedication of this memorial, commemorating the greatest peaceable acquisition of territory in the history of the world, was abundantly proved by the presence at the exercises as participants in the program, of a delegation of United States senators and representatives, members of the foreign diplomatic corps resident in Washington, the governors or their respective appointees from all of the states embraced in the Louisiana purchase, and a long list of distinguished men and women who have gathered in St. Louis from all sections of the country to attend the American Peace congress which it to begin its sessions tomorrow.

The day's program was divided into two parts: In the afternoon were held the actual ceremonies attending the formal dedication, when speeches were made by eminent officials and individuals. The ceremonies were initiated with the unveiling of the Thomas Jefferson statue, which occupies a conspicuous position in the rotunda of the memorial hall. Former Governor David R. Francis, as president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company, made an address presenting the memorial to the city of St. Louis, and Henry W. Kiel, as mayor, responded. They were followed by several orations on the life and services of Thomas Jefferson and the importance of the purchase of the Louisiana territory.

The second part of the program consisted on an "educational" parade, which started immediately after the literary exercises were concluded. In line were troops from Jefferson Barracks, the National Guard, and Naval Reserves, Boy Scouts, cadets and students from military academies and colleges throughout the middle west and delegations representing numerous patriotic societies and civic organizations. Brig. Gen. E. J. Spencer of the National Guard of Missouri was the grand marshal of the parade.

The memorial is in the form of a great hall, more than 300 feet in length and constructed entirely of stone and marble. It occupies a conspicuous site near the entrance to Forest Park. The building will be used to house a library and relics interesting from an historical standpoint, of the Louisiana purchase and of the history of the great section of country embraced in the Louisiana territory. The memorial was built with a fund of about $500,000, which was left from the receipts of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition held in St. Louis in 1904.

FARMER'S WIFE ALMOST A WRECK

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Own Story.

Westwood, Md.—"I am a farmer's wife and do most of my own work when I am able. I had nervous spells, female weakness and terrible bearing down pains every month. I also suffered much with my right side. The pain started in my back and extended around my right side, and the doctor told me it was organic inflammation. I was sick every three weeks and had to stay in bed from two to four days.

"It is with great pleasure I tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I have followed your directions as near as possible, and feel much better than I have felt for years. When I wrote you before I was almost a wreck. You can publish this letter if you like. It may help to strengthen the faith of some poor suffering woman."—Mrs. JOHN F. HUGHARDS, Westwood, Maryland.

HEALTH OF CHILDREN IN COUNTRY SCHOOLS.

That 80 per cent of the children in country schools drink tea and coffee; that 40 per cent of them suffer from almost constant toothache; and that 19 to 23 per cent have frequent headache; these are some of the surprising facts brought out by Dr. Ernest B. Hoag of Minnesota, in a personal visitation of the rural schools of that state, according to information received at the United States bureau of education.

To find exactly what health conditions in Minnesota rural schools are, Dr. Hoag asks the simplest kind of questions, with astonishing results. "When I ask those who drink coffee to stand up," says Dr. Hoag, "nearly all the children arise. When I ask how many have a tooth brush, nearly all say they have, but when I ask 'Did you use it this morning?' there is little response."

Many of the children assumed that headache, earache, and other ailments were perfectly natural things, and seemed surprised that anybody should be curious about them. "Why, I always have the headache," they would say. Dr. Hoag found that by simple questions about the children's eyesight, the teacher, without any optical tests at all, would discover that 20 per cent of the children suffer from eye strain.

From 12 to 14 per cent of the country school children suffer from earache, and 4 per cent have discharging ears. "Adenoids, earache, discharging ears, deafness: that's the order we find over and over again," says Dr. Hoag. "Four or five per cent of the children simply do not hear what is going on and are therefore put down as stupid when they are not."

The commonest principles of hygiene are frequently neglected. In one school visited by Dr. Hoag an old fashioned unjacketed stove had sent the thermometer to the sizzling height of 90 degrees, while it was 10 below zero out of doors, a difference of 100 degrees. The children in the country are generally plentifully fed, Dr. Hoag finds, but they do not eat the right kind of food. People in the country do not breathe pure air, because with abundance of it all about them they carefully exclude it from their houses by keeping the windows tightly closed. These are some of the things that have caused the country to lose its reputation for good health as compared with the city.

In order to remedy conditions, thorough medical inspection is desirable where it can be had, but much can be done by the teacher herself without any elaborate medical methods, according to Dr. Hoag. Teachers in Minnesota schools are provided with a "health survey" containing simple but fundamental questions about health, by means of which they keep informed as to the condition of the children entrusted to their charge and are able to point the way to healthful living.

No matter how long you suffered, or what other remedies have failed to cure, Foley Kidney Pills will surely help you. They are genuinely tonic, strengthening and curative, build up the kidneys and restore their regular action. John Velbert, Foster, Calif., says: "I suffered many years with kidney trouble and could never get relief until I tried Foley Kidney Pills which effected a complete cure."

Paris, April 30.—Leaders of the American colony in Paris thronged the American church in the Avenue de l'Alma this afternoon for the wedding of Mrs. Richard T. Crane and Francis T. A. Jenkin. Both the bride and bridegroom are residents of Chicago and prominent in society circles in that city.

John Bassett Moore, New Counselor of State Department, Is W. J. Bryan's Right Hand Man.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

John Bassett Moore, the new counselor of the department of state, is Secretary Bryan's right hand man in conducting the affairs of the department. He will confer with the secretary and President Wilson on all important matters of foreign relations. He also will be acting secretary during Mr. Bryan's absence, legislation passed last summer having made such a provision. The first assistant formerly acted in the absence of the secretary, but it is believed Mr. Bryan will take advantage of the new provision. Professor Moore is a man whose attainments have been recognized by both Republican and Democratic administrations. He was urged by Secretary Knox to take a place in the department under the Taft administration, but he declined at that time to give up his work at Columbia university. It is understood that a promise to ask for an increase of salary for him was instrumental in obtaining his services to the Wilson administration. The illustration shows Professor Moore seated at his desk.

WITH MR. AND MRS. MCARTY IN GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Ga., April 27, 1913.
Dear Journal and Friends:

We feel that our report would be lacking something if we did not give you a small account of our last move.

On the morning of the 22nd we disposed of our surplus effects by the following: We bequeathed our long bamboo fishing pole, extra hooks and lines, bait can and snake killer club to one of our boy friends, the remnant of our wood pile to our good friend, Tom Jenkins, and our good will to the inhabitants of Mount Dora in general and especially to the two ministers, Rev. J. A. Bretz and Rev. George Marsh. Mrs. McCarty bequeathed to her nearest neighbor, Mrs. Jenkins, the odds and ends of her kitchen stores, to her little friend Doris Lane, the odds and ends of her dress and millinery department; also her good will to the natives of the town. We then said good bye to all and boarded the train for Sanford, feeling elated because the pendulum had reached its full swing and was ready to swing back to the place of the first start. It was necessary for us to stay over night in Sanford in order to get the boat for Jacksonville, Fla. We got a good room at the Sanford house, a large tourist hotel, where everything is nice and clean, and we expected to take on a little extra sleep that would come in handy while journeying down the river. But we were doomed to disappointment, for we were barely in the borderland of pleasant dreams, when the awful din and racket broke loose just under our window, that any one ever heard. At first we thought that the boys had made a mistake by thinking that we were a newly married couple and had come to serenade us, but before we could get up and set matters right, the crowd moved on, and we decided it was the other fellow they were after, and that they were after him good and plenty, for you could not imagine anything that would make a hideous noise but what those fellows had in their makeup; big guns, little guns, all kinds of bells, tin pans, wash boilers and all kinds of noise making machinery ever invented by man or old Nick. They would fire off their guns; then start in on the bells and old cans and yell like a band of wild Indians. After an hour or two of this we were so mad at the groom, whoever he might be, that we could have kicked him into the middle of next week for not showing himself and bride and putting a quietus on the awful din. Things grew worse and worse until about 2:30 a. m., when there were several explosions that shook the foundations of the most solid houses in the town and scattered windy glass in every direction. We pulled the cover over our eyes and gave up, supposing everything was going to the everlasting bow wows. We awoke at 7:30 a. m. and found things normal, but we asked the clerk if the crowd found and killed the bride and groom. He said it wasn't of that nature; that the legislature had passed a bill to cut Orange county in half, making Sanford a county seat, and this is the way they celebrate a victory in Florida.

We went aboard the fine steamer City of Jacksonville at 10:30 a. m. and at 11:10 pulled out on our memorable trip down the beautiful river Saint Johns. The boat was not crowded, so we had all the room we wanted. The trip takes about 18 or 20 hours. The commencement was made in Lake Monroe and we sailed across the lake to a little town, Enterprise, where we took on fright and a few passengers; then diagonally across for the river. Dinner was ready just as we were entering the river and we could hardly finish our lunch, for we did not want to miss a single rod of the beautiful surroundings.

We have often read of the beauty of the landscapes and wonderful things to be seen on this river and we were anxious to verify the descriptions we had read and we are glad to be able to say in the words of the queen, "The half has never been told." Think of sailing through acres of lily pads full of bloom, between banks covered with the most exquisite wild foliage; the dark green magnolia, with leaves like wax, with its large white flowers; the live oak, with its thick branches; oleaners, both white and pink; the wild peach; the umbrella tree, and many others we did not know. All this is covered with the green Spanish moss and some places with the greenest of green vines. Above all this towers the stately palm, sometimes a hundred feet high, with its small tuft of green at the top, looking like proud sentinels with green helmets keeping guard over the everlasting jungle of beauty and mystery. The day was ideal and we sat all afternoon on the forward deck, drinking in the lovely scenery and thanking the creator of all of this, for the privilege of seeing it. The river runs to all points of the compass in graceful curves. You can rarely see farther than a mile ahead, except when the river passes through a lake, which happens several times during the run from Sanford to Jacksonville, a distance of 200 miles. Lake George is the largest, being about 14 miles wide and 20 long. In most places the vegetation grows down to the water edge and sometimes in the water. There are small bays and bayous; the bayous sometimes completely covered by lilies, looking like a street paved with emerald. Every old log or stump was covered with turtles, the size of a dishpan, and when we came close to them they would tumble off and plunk into the water, making the spray fly as if a sack of cement had fallen into the river. Where the shrubbery grew this high enough to admit of the sun we saw herds of alligators, from a few feet to 20 feet long, taking their afternoon siesta. Some of the little fellows would scamper into the water, but the larger ones held their positions and continued to snooze with much satisfaction. We asked the captain to stop the boat until we captured one of those fellows, but he would not comply with our wish, saying it would be the other fellow who would be captured. Dogs and young niggers are the greatest luxury the alligators know of. They would go through fire for a morsel of either. A lady on board gave us her experience with dogs and alligators. She and her husband went fishing on one of the lakes in Florida, taking their dog with them in the boat. They had not gone far when the gators began to poke their heads up all around the boat and bump the keel with their backs. They got to shore as quick as possible, having learned a whole lot about gators in a very short time. Those omniphobous animals were not the only natives along the river. There were droves of the genuine razor-back hogs, rooting in the soft sand and picking up a good living, also contributing toward the upkeep of the gator families, for every once in a while one ventures too close to the river after a toothsome bite of something good, when a swish goes a big scaly tail, and piggle is knocked into the river, where he is systematically drowned and then eaten with much satisfaction by his deadly enemy.

The feathered family is pretty well represented along the St. Johns. We believe the blue herons are in the majority. There are great fish hawks, kingfishers, mocking birds, who sing at night, and several varieties of other birds, but very few ducks.

We sat on the forward deck all afternoon and if balmy air had not given us a ravenous appetite we would not have gone down for our supper. Nevertheless the cuisine department was equal to any hotel we had been in during our rambles in the south. We only went down because we were hungry.

We had our supper before sunset and were again on deck to see a beautiful sunset on a beautiful river. As might say on a beautiful lake for we were just entering Lake George at this particular time, and when we got through the lake it was dark, but we stuck to our post to watch the effect of the searchlight on the water. We watched them make several landings, after coming back to the river proper. Sitting in the balmy air, feeling the vibrations of the engines and the beating of the paddle wheels on the water naturally gave us a desire to sleep and about 10 o'clock we retired to our berth, where we found everything sweet and clean, and we were soon lost in sweet dreams that lasted until six in the morning.

When we arrived on deck we found that we were sailing on a mighty river, many miles wide, for we were nearing the city of Jacksonville, where we were to take a train for the north. We ate breakfast in the city at 7:30 and were bowling along north bound at 8:10 a. m. We arrived at Atlanta at 7:50, tired, hungry and sleepy.

Now, we have tried to give you a few pointers on the St. Johns, but we feel that we have made a failure of the effort and we would advise you to make the trip yourselves to see how far we missed it. It is a trip when once made one will never regret having made it.

Our intention is to leave here in the morning for Chattanooga, Tenn., where we will spend a few days looking around and then for the land of plenty, the land that flows with milk and honey and the inhabitants are all happy.

We have been pretty much over the city and could tell you a few things should we have the time and inclination. For the present, goodbye.

D. K. and Mrs. McCarty.

SEASON OPENS IN TRI-STATE.

Trenton, N. J., April 30.—The Tri-State Baseball league started today on what promises to be the most successful season in the last ten years of its existence. From the Harrisburg champions down to the tail-enders of last season every team has made several changes with a view to strengthening its organization. The circuit has been reduced from eight clubs to six clubs, Reading and Chester having been dropped. In the opening games today York appeared at Harrisburg, Wilmington at Allentown and Atlantic City at Trenton. The season will end Labor day.

Recommended for a Good Reason C. H. Grant, 230 Waverly St., Peoria, Ill., says: "Backache and congested kidneys made me suffer intense pains. Was always tired and floating specks bothered me. Took Foley Kidney Pills and saw big improvement after third day. I kept on until entirely freed of all trouble and suffering. That's why I recommend Foley Kidney Pills. They cured me." INDIVIDUAL HOG HOUSES ARE ESSENTIAL TO SWINE RAISING Surroundings Should Be Such That Will Satisfy Their Natural Desires, Modified and Improved to Promote Financial Results.

By Professor William Dietrich, University of Illinois. The proper location of a hog house or shelter of any kind for swine is one of the first essentials to success in swine husbandry. In providing shelter for swine, as well as for other classes of live stock, surroundings should be furnished that conform as near to nature as the improved condition of the animals and circumstances of the owner will permit. Swine in the wild state inhabit the forest, where shade, water, protection from cold winds, and natural soil are abundant, and where they may select dry or damp localities as they please. The best surroundings, then, for swine are those that will satisfy their natural desires, but so modified and improved as to promote the largest financial results. The best location for a hog house, therefore, is one that is well drained and well lighted, and one that will permit access to pasture, to good shade, and to a stream of running water that is free from disease germs, where also there are opportunities for making wallows in clean mud. If the building can be placed on a sandy or gravelly soil, it will afford better drainage than a clay, silt, or peaty soil would furnish. Light and shade are desirable for reasons that are apparent to everyone. Pasture should be accessible, as considerable food is obtained from the soil in the form of roots, worms, and insects, as well as many materials that are not foods but are necessary to the health of the pigs. A limestone soil is preferable because the water from such a soil, as well as the soil and stone themselves, furnishes the lime that is so essential in building up bone. A rolling pasture is preferable because it furnishes better drainage and a form of exercise that is conducive to the production of a large percentage of lean meat. It also tends to produce strong legs with upright pasterns, which, from a breeder's standpoint, are among the first essentials of a good hog. A stream of pure, running water is desirable, for then drinking water in the best form will be available at all times and will be more wholesome than it would be were it supplied in a trough, where it is bound to become more or less warm, stagnant and foul. If there is no natural stream at hand, water pumped from a well by a wind-

PRODUCTIVE POWER OF SOIL

By Professors C. G. Hopkins, J. G. Mosier, J. H. Pettit and J. E. Read-himer, University of Illinois. The productive capacity of land in humid sections depends almost wholly upon the power of the soil to feed the crop; and this, in turn, depends both upon the stock of plant food contained in the soil and upon the rate at which this is liberated or rendered soluble and available for use in plant growth. Protection from weeds, insects, and fungus diseases though exceedingly important is not a positive but a negative factor in crop production. The chemical analysis of the soil gives the invoice of fertility actually present in the soil strata sampled and analyzed, but the rate of liberation is governed by many factors, some of which may be controlled by the farmer, while others are largely beyond his control. Chief among the important controllable factors which influence the liberation of plant food are limestone and decaying organic matter, which may be added to the soil by direct application of ground limestone and farm manure. Organic matter may also be supplied by green manure crops and crop residues, such as clover, cowpeas, straw and cornstalks. The rate of decay of organic matter depends largely upon its age and origin, and it may be hastened by tillage. The chemical analysis shows correctly the total organic carbon, which represents, as a rule, but little more than half the organic matter; so that 20,000 pounds of organic carbon in the plowed soil of an acre corresponds to nearly 20 tons of organic matter. But this organic matter consists largely of the old organic residue that has accumulated during the past centuries because they were resistant to decay, and 2 tons of clover or cowpeas plowed under may have greater power to liberate plant food than the 20 tons of old inactive organic matter. The recent history of the individual farm or field must be depended upon for information concerning recent additions of active organic matter whether in applications of farm manure, in legume crops, or in grass root sods of old pastures. It should be kept in mind that crops are not made out of nothing. They are composed of ten different elements of plant food, everyone of which is absolutely essential for the growth and formation of every agricultural plant. Of these ten elements of plant food, only two (carbon and oxygen) are secured from the air by all plants, only one (hydrogen) from water, and seven from the soil. Nitrogen, one of these seven elements secured from the soil by all plants, may be secured from the air by one class of plants (legumes); in case the amount liberated from the soil is insufficient; but even these plants (which include only the clovers, peas, beans, and vetches among our common agricultural plants) secure six elements from the soil (phosphorus, potassium, magnesium, calcium, iron, and sulphur) and also utilize the soil nitrogen so far as it becomes soluble and available during their period of growth.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Officials of the Chicago and Northwestern with their own cars and engine, went over the Alton between Peoria and Girard yesterday, in order to reach their line between Girard and Mendon. They also wished to note progress on their extension from Peoria to Girard. Their special will be piloted by Conductor Steele of the Alton. General Superintendent A. P. Titus made an engagement with the committee of the Alton engineers to meet them here next Friday to take up the question of settlement on account of the weight of the 800 class of engines. The C. & N. has the new schedule allowed extra weight in excess of 215,000 pounds. It is claimed that some or all of this class weigh more than that limit. The engineers handling these engines, have filed claims for back pay and the subject will be discussed here next Friday. Assistant Engineer C. E. Robinson of the Wabash has been in Litchfield Tuesday to set stakes for the new Wabash station which is to be erected on the old station site there. The new structure will be made of brick, and thoroughly modern equipment will be installed throughout. The old station was recently moved to make room for the new structure which will be completed soon. Material is now on the ground and building operations will start soon.

The Wabash soda ash plant at Peru has been completed. Wabash Engineer Pownall will start for the east as soon as possible to put the plant into service. The completion of the plant finishes present water improvement on the Peru division and results will soon be felt there.

The United States court of St. Louis recently issued an order to the Wabash receivers directing that they take no action in regard to the $5,000,000 in 1-2 per cent gold notes which mature with interest May 1. The court advised that all action concerning the notes be left in the hands of the reorganization committee of which Winslow L. Pierce is chairman. The Wabash-Pittsburgh terminal reorganization prospect has set gossip buzzing again in financial circles, and E. B. Pryor is now in New York on Wabash business, which may very likely be affiliated with the terminal plans. No announcement has been made concerning the reorganization step.

Orders were issued yesterday to send the Springfield wrecker, now up for repairs, to Mason City today to lift into position the new steel bridge over Salt creek at that point. The pile driver was engaged yesterday in driving piles for the false work and approaches and it is hoped to make the shift in spans today without delaying traffic.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad has let the contract for the installation of a draw span in their fixed bridge across the Illinois river in La Salle county and work will commence immediately. Sixty days probably will be required. Excursion steamers from points south of the bridge can then reach Starved Rock and other points. The inability of the boats to reach the new state park at Starved Rock has cost them a large sum annually, say river men. The steamboat owners say that the flow of water from the Chicago drainage canal has raised the water of the river to such an extent that the stream is navigable many miles north of the bridge.

The long controversy between the Peoria railway terminal and Illinois traction company line has been settled and this morning cars from Pekin will run through to the court house at Peoria. The tracks of the two companies on Chestnut and Washington streets have been connected and everything will be in readiness for the change. The Illinois traction company will build a fine depot on the site of the old National hotel and when completed the structure will be used by both the electric roads.

The Alton bridge department has swung the last span of the new bridge at Wilmington into position. The new bridge is of such a radical departure from the old that the entire appearance of the vicinity is changed. The old structure set low and was of the overhead type. The new bridge is of the girder type and has nothing above the track except a hand rail for pedestrians along the walks at the edge of the structure.

TEXAS SHIPS 1,000 GOATS

Three Car Loads Arrive at Kansas City—Flesh Very Like Mutton. Kansas City, Mo., April 30.—At Kansas City Stock Yards yesterday 1,000 goats from Texas, 3 car loads sold at $5.10 per 100 pounds, and the season has just begun. Kansas City receives more goats than any other market in the United States, and the bulk of the supply is marketed in April, May and June though stock goats and "brushers" the kind that consume brush, can be had up to the beginning of winter. The three months' supply is usually 40,000 to 65,000 and most of them come from Texas. Few persons can tell goat meat from its finer cousin, mutton. At present the goat meat is welcomed as it should be about 2 to 3 cents a pound cheaper than mutton. Compared with a year ago, prices for fat goats are about $1 per 100 pounds higher.

PLAN FOR OLD SOLDIERS DAY.

The Illinois state board of agriculture is making very complete and satisfactory arrangements for the observance of Old Soldier's day at the coming state fair. Hon. J. T. Montgomery, the president of the state fair, has appointed a committee of old soldiers that are members of the state board of agriculture to co-operate with a committee of Stephenson post, G. A. R., in completing arrangements for the fitting observance of Old Soldier's day at the 1913 state fair. The committee appointed by President Montgomery consists of Commanders Martin Conrad, J. K. Hopkins, John S. Culp, Charles F. Dike and J. K. Dickinson. Col. Elijah Jones, the commander of Stephenson post, G. A. R., of Springfield has appointed the following old soldiers of the city to co-operate with the committee of the state board: Col. James A. Connelley, Col. John B. Inman, Col. E. S. Johnson, Col. Lincoln Dubois and Col. Chas. F. Mills. The two committees named above will have an early meeting to consider the speakers for Old Soldier's day and to complete arrangements for the entertainment and the enjoyment of the veterans of Old Soldiers' day at the 1913 state fair.

A STRONG REFERENCE.
A young man recently applied for a position with a large printing house, and not having a letter of reference, offered his bank book. It showed a regularity of entries of deposit. It was a very strong recommendation, indicating character and persistency, which finally secured for him a good position.

MOVEMENT OF STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

QUOTATIONS ON LEADING ISSUES WERE INCLINED TO IMPROVE.

At the Same Time More Than Thirty Stocks of Secondary Importance Touched New Low Levels For the Year—Movement Was Uncertain and Confusing.

(By Associated Press)

New York, April 30.—Irregular movements marked the course of today's stock market. The leading issues were inclined to improve. At the same time, more than thirty stocks touched new low levels for the year. Most of these stocks were of secondary importance, although the list included Southern Pacific, New Haven and Baltimore & Ohio. Taken as a whole the movement was uncertain and confusing. Although Reading, Lehigh, Union Pacific, Annapolis and a number of other prominent issues ruled a point or more high at times, this improvement could not be said to reflect a growth in confidence or buying power. The demand seemed to arise chiefly from short covering.

After a week of incessant selling it was regarded as natural that there should be a reaction. Southern Pacific sold off 2 points to 95% on the adverse decision of the lower court in the Oregon-California land grant case.

New Haven broke over 4 points to 106, on the highly unfavorable March statement disclosing a decrease in net revenue of $809,000. Several other roads also reported shrinkages in March earnings. Reading's net earnings from all companies decreased $1,246,000. Easing off in the demand for steel products and a growing spirit of caution on the part of the buyers were reported in the weekly trade reviews. In spite of this tendency and the somewhat disappointing quarterly report of the steel corporation, steel was held up well, there being a fairly constant demand for this stock from the shorts.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it seizes the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. With out dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Headache? Its' Your Liver

Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic Is Needed

Try Olive Tablets—The Substitute for Calomel

Anyone who takes Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets the moment he suspects his liver or bowels, will never have headache.

There is no necessity, when you take Olive Tablets, of following them up with nasty, sickening griping salts or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel.

Olive tablets do not contain calomel or any other metallic drugs; they are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, sugar coated, easy to take, and never gripe or cause weakness.

Thousands of people take one every night at bedtime just to prevent disorder of the liver, constipation, bad breath, pimples, headaches, etc. Dr. Edwards, calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles.

Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 14c and 25c per box.

WRITES FROM PARIS OF FAR AWAY JAPAN

S. W. NICHOLS TELLS ABOUT TARBOX SCHOOL IN CITY OF YOKOHAMA.

Institution was Founded For Children by Former Resident of Arcola—Hard to Enjoy riding in Jinrikishas.

(By S. W. Nichols.)

Kyoto, Japan.
Dear Journal: This is the Paris of Japan and well deserves the appellation. We left Yokohama with regrets, for we had made many warm friends in the short time we were there and it was hard to leave the Royal hotel, for it is managed by a fine gentleman, a native of France, and one well up in the business.

In Yokohama is a school called the Donald R. Tarbox school and named after a child of Mr. Tarbox, a broom corn king of Arcola, Ill. He lost his only child when the little one was less than a year old and this school is in memory of the deceased one. It is a kindergarten and school for children in general and a place also to which working mothers may bring their babies and have them cared for and fed one meal for a day, or half a cent of our money. This special charity is aided by residents of the city. The school is doing a grand work educating and caring for a large number of children and the way they are disciplined is remarkable, as was shown by a visit there.

They were at play at the time, but at a word from the teacher they at once formed in line and saluted the guests most respectfully. It is really doubtful if a like number of American children would have done better. The pupils in the day school all showed the same discipline and good management and were bright and intelligent and the visit there was a genuine pleasure. Many more interesting things could be described regarding the place, but I shall not use the space for the purpose.

We had to make an early start and asked the landlord to engage and pay for jinrikishas the night before which he did, and bright and early they were on hand, but it was raining hard. The poor fellows had umbrellas hats and oil cloth capes, but only cloth slippers and straw soles on their feet and we had about two miles to go. It was almost level all the way, but naturally the streets were a bit sloppy, as they the macadam, though quite hard, and the wind was dead against us. I and a few people who live here are used to such things and perhaps, too, the men, who trotted at a lively gait all the way between the little shafts were glad to get such a job so early on a bad day, but I admit I never felt more uncomfortable in my life than when being wrapped safe, snug and warm in a little top buggy drawn by a human being, who slopped in the slush every step he took. I couldn't get out and run alongside, for I should have fallen from exhaustion long before the station would be reached and then there were three other like vehicles, so I simply had to sit and ride.

We reached the station in about half an hour and the men were not especially worn out either, but my conscience wouldn't let me dismiss them with a thank you, so I gave them a sum which to them was simply princely, though it was not very large, but in addition to the regular charge paid at the hotel and such a lot of bowing and scraping, smiles and thanks I have seldom received. They hung around a few moments to thank me some more and bow and smile and utter words which I suppose were thanks before they wended their way back again in the rain to their headquarters. I am told that in China we shall have to be carried much in sedan chairs, which will be far worse than the jinrikishas. The latter vehicle has been a great boon to this country. Human labor is so superabundant that horses can be used but little at a profit and man power must be utilized and the jinrikisha men seem not to know anything about weariness, but like their dusky brothers of Egypt and Syria, run all day and don't mind it. The jinrikisha was the invention of a missionary who had an invalid wife and wanted to give her fresh air.

The scenery along the greater part of the daytime ride was superb and different in some respects from any we have seen. It was quite mountainous much of the time, though occasionally we would skirt the seashore and have a glorious view of the bay with its fishing boats and other signs of life. The hills are largely terraced, which reminded me of the journey I made six years before through Palestine, only this land lacked the sacred associations connected with that country and the people are far more advanced and comfortable. All of the available ground is used and when the hills couldn't be terraced there was some kind of ridges constructed to keep the soil from washing and preserve the grass which grew there. Many beautiful streams flow down the mountains, many of which were snow capped and we were frequently reminded of Colorado scenery by what we saw. A novel feature of the country was a lot of little water wheels turned by the flowing streams and probably used to supply power for some simple machinery.

On the way down I had a regular circus with my typewriter. The third class car was right behind ours and once when I looked up I saw a bevy of boys gazing in wonder at the little machine which I had on my lap industriously using, so I took it to the door and then piled the machine and showed them how it worked. They were much interested and surprised and one of them consented to let me take his finger in my hand and show him how to use the machine and make a few letters, but the others were afraid of it and wouldn't touch it, but all eyed it as if it were some creature of another sphere and when I showed them the shift, how with the pressure of one button I made capitals and my pressing another made figures and characters, their astonishment knew no bounds and they were not slow to show it.

Then I took the typewriter and went in the third class car, where I had another circus with the old ones. I have not been such a center of attraction for a long time and it was truly amusing and pleasant too to furnish diversion in an innocent manner for so many people. It made me think of the days six years ago in the desert and hills of Syria, where I had similar experiences. We can hardly put ourselves in the place of people who have not seen our modern inventions and while the residents of the cities in this country have some typewriters, though the residents of the rural districts know little of them at all.

The mission work of this city is largely in the hands of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of the Congregational church and here too is the Doshisha college, the work of the sainted Joseph Nessim of such holy memory. There are two men here in especial charge, Rev. Mr. Lombard and Rev. M. D. Dunning and the latter, to whom I had written, met us at the station and showed us a very pleasant hotel the Diabutsu, at which we are staying and which is named for the deity which presides at Kamakura, as already described. It is well located and quite pleasant.

Before I left my room the first morning a card was sent me bearing the name of Charles L. Storrs, the fine young missionary, who will be so pleasantly remembered by many who met him last fall when he visited our city. He is on his way back to China and the steamship on which he is sailing had a two days' wait at Yokohama and he was enabled to take a rail ride to Kobe, the next stopping port of the vessel and visit his classmates, Messrs. Lombard and Dunning, and go on to Kobe in time to take his steamer again. He spent a whole day with us and it was indeed delightful. He was accompanying two young ladies who are going to do work in China. One, Miss Weed, was on her way to become the bride of Rev. Mr. Cillatt, who went out last fall, and the other, Miss Crane, was on her way to enter the Y. W. C. A. work in the Flowery Kingdom. Both are charming young persons, whom it was a pleasure to meet. Before we left the breakfast table the card of Mr. Lombard came to Mr. Storrs and he asked the gentleman to come and sit beside the table while we ate, and he did so, and told us he had plans for us all for the day and took us in hand and we had a grand time.

Eight jinrikishas were ready and soon we were being propelled right along the streets to places of interest. This city was founded about the year 900 and was for a long time the seat of the western part of the empire and the place of the powerful Shoguns, who, however, were in time overcome and when the kingdom became consolidated under one king or mikado the seat of government was established at Tokyo and the place and castle of the former rulers are now unoccupied. The city is romantically situated among high mountains not far away, while streams of pure water are conducted to it and form an excellent supply and run merrily through the place. It has an interesting history which any one interested in the land may read with profit. It is one of the best laid out and has some fine, broad thoroughfares and not nearly as many of the crooked, uninviting little thoroughfares of Tokyo. The street car service is better too and in many ways the place has earned the title of the Paris of the empire. It is fairly well kept, has a sewer system and is well policed, the streets are good and the place is noted as being a good one for shopping, though our pocket-books are not plethora enough to admit of great indulgence in that pastime and I don't believe in buying abroad what we can get at home.

As we passed along the street we passed by one of the gorgeous temples of the place and saw a lot of people as at Nikko, for the Japs are a spiritual people and the common ones are devoted to their religion and make long pilgrimages to places like this and Nikko to worship at the temples. We passed the enormous bell, which has but one rival in size in the land, and saw many pious persons hovering about it and the temple adjacent. The bell hangs in a pagoda near the ground and must have cost a great sum. It is fully ten feet in diameter and about twice as high and composed of sonorous metal, sending forth a beautiful sound. It is rung, as are all such bells, by a log suspended by ropes, with an end near the bell. Then an attendant pulls the log back and lets it strike, which gives forth a pleasing and ponderous sound and many times I hear it when awake at night or during the day.

We passed by the sale of tempting shops for the sake of curios and stopped to invest in a few trinkets and passed on to the grand grove on the green hillside beyond. Never did I see a more charming spot. The mighty hill was covered with a dense grove of evergreen, so green as to be almost black, while scattered about it were the buildings thronged with pious pilgrims from long distances. We entered a number and among them Kio Mizue, the place of clear water. It is right on the side of a precipice and one side has five stories of stairways to level it up and from this balcony a glorious view of the city and mountains beyond is obtained.

In the valley below is a spring whose waters are supposed by the credulous Buddhists to have special powers and it is venerated as is the sacred Ganges of India. For a long time, and, in fact, until quite recently, devotees would remove all their clothing and men and women indiscriminately, would step under the falling waters as they gushed down the hillside. Of late a law has been passed forbidding this disrobing so promiscuously and a small structure has been built near by for a dressing room, where worshippers may disrobe, put on some sort of covering to defend their modesty and get a sprinkle from the sacred stream near by.

All about the sacred place were numerous worshippers, some of whom had come a long distance, incense was being burned, priests were receiving gifts and all about were signs of devotion, though it was noisy, open to the public and not very solemn. The plot for the buildings is large and among the trees and lovely to behold. At the best structure we saw a woman kneeling devoutly before a shrine reading a prayer book and Mr. Lombard said it was a higher type of worship than he had seen before. All the people seemed in earnest, though few seemed to know exactly what they were doing.

There was one structure called the prayer pagoda and composed of successive stories of stone beginning about three feet square and tapering somewhat toward the top, which is about 25 feet high. I noticed a great many pebbles lying on the various stories and Mr. Lombard said there was a superstition that if one offered a prayer and then threw a pebble his petition would be answered if the missile lodged. We threw a few, but there were so many already there that we didn't get many to stay and brought down some that were already there.

Temple of Kwannin.

The Temple of Kwannin, or Goddess of Mercy, is a wonderful structure and founded in 1133. In it are a thousand images of the goddess arranged in long rows, tier above tier. The building is 389 feet long and 57 wide and is open in front and boarded up in the rear and entirely of wood. There is some fine carving about it and some excellent painting and designs, but in general there is the same barbaric effect so often observed in such structures. In the center sit the orientals and thither the devout go to offer prayers.

SYNOPSIS

On the United States side of the line dividing Mexico from the United States, the U. S. soldiers camped. Fifty yards on the other side the Mexican soldiers were camped. One of the bright-eyed Senoritas captives two officers, one a captain of her own nationality, the other a lieutenant belonging to Uncle Sam. The captain of the Mexican troops being the older of the two, wins the maid by his quiet love and kindness. The irrepressible impassionate U. S. trooper tries to take the Senorita's heart by storm, but is repelled. On the spur of the moment, to punish his rival, the U. S. lieutenant tells a falsehood to his officer, and nearly causes international complications, but after coolly analysing the situation, the lieutenant rises above all petty personal and delivers the captain from jail—returns him to his fiancée across the line and goes back to his place and awaits his punishment.

BROOKLYN SPECIAL SERMONS.
Rev. Hy S. Alkire, pastor of Brooklyn church, has announced some special sermons to be given within the next few weeks. The general theme is to be "The Entire Family." He gives the first next Sunday night on "Father John." Sunday a week, in the morning, he discusses "Mother Mary," and at night, "Sister Sue." The following Sunday night will come "Brother Alex."

Brooklyn saw two very large audiences last Sunday. The night crowd was the largest at any ordinary preaching service that Brooklyn has had in years. The music was especially fine and the people were not slow in expressing themselves. The collections were divided with the Salvation Army of this city.

Next Sunday Prof. Kitch of the Conservatory of Music will accompany one of his pupils in a violin number at the morning hour; and at night Mrs. Roberts will give her postponed solo, with violin obligato. The chorals will have their usual numbers.

Prof. Kitch will furnish several artists and give all the evening music some time soon. Also the Woman's college is to be given an evening of special music.

At the recent board meeting the treasurer reported the best loose collections for the month of April that Brooklyn has had in many years. The people of the south side, as well as all over the city, give ample evidence of their desire to see Brooklyn prosper. Every service sees worshippers from several different parts of the city. Sunday not less than seven different churches were represented in the audiences.

New Method Gas Stoves Are Different. Why?

First—They are more satisfactory to the user on account of consuming 20 to 40 per cent less gas, and the many patented improvements which they have make them do better baking, broiling and roasting, easier to operate and to take care of.

Second—When properly installed complaints of burners choking, imperfect cooking, valve handles coming off, oven bottoms warping, oven doors falling and breaking, explosions in ovens, and parts rusting out are never heard of from the users.

SENIOR RECITAL BY

MISS JANETTE C. POWELL

Reader Presents "Jeanne D'Arc" By Percy Mackaye in a Most Pleasing Manner.

Miss Janette C. Powell, a student of the school of expression of the Woman's college gave her graduating recital in Music hall Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. Miss Powell has studied for the past three years with Miss Amanda Kidder, director of the school of expression and her work yesterday in the rendition and interpretation of the drama "Jeanne D'Arc," by Percy Mackaye, showed many evidences of Miss Kidder's splendid training. A sincere sympathy with an understanding of the various characters presented gave to the reading a reality and coloring, necessary to make the drama live and at the close of the program many compliments were passed upon the excellent work of Miss Powell.

The following were the characters: Jacques D'Arc... Father of Jeanne Gerard—Home from the Wars—Betrothed to Haviette Jeanne D'Arc (Jeanette). The Maid Haviette... Her Friend Charles VII... King of France Due D'Alencon... His Cousin Seigneur de la Tremouille... His Favorite Marshal la Fiere... Catherine de la Rochelle... Court Lady

The drama was divided into five acts as follows:

Act I.—The ladies' tree, near Domremy. Springtime, 1428.
Act II.—The castle of Charles VII. at Chinon; March 1429.
Act III.—A meadow outside the Walls of Orleans. May 7, 1429.
Act IV.—Before the walls of Troyes. July 5, 1429.
Act V.—Jeanne's Prison at Rouen. May 30, 1431.

Never did we make such an attempt to please the Jacksonville public in spring millinery. Endeavor to visit our store and see what we have accomplished. Floreth's.

Speaks at Memorial Banquet. Congressman Julius Kahn of California, speaking at the Jefferson memorial banquet here tonight, took as his theme, "The Exaltation of the Ego."

After speaking of Jefferson as a strict constructionist, Mr. Kahn said:

"Every now and then we read of some iconoclast who would throw this palladium of our liberties on the political scrap heap, but in almost every instance the proposer of such action is a self-seeking demagogue who expects and hopes to get into the political limelight as a result of his extreme views. It is the exploitation of his own ego that is generally responsible for his vitriolic outburst."

BITS OF NEWS.

Child Burns to Death—The 2-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Carmody of Carrollton was burned to death Wednesday while playing near a bonfire.

Conductor Rhoades Home—R. L. Rhoades, a conductor on the Chicago & Alton who was injured near Franklin as the result of falling beneath an engine and removed to St. John's hospital in Springfield, has returned to his home in Rodhouse. He suffered the loss of both his legs and his life was despaired of for several days.

Father of 50 Children—Thomas Ellison, who resides at Walnut, Ark., is believed to be the real champion of the procreation principles of Theodore Roosevelt. "Uncle" Tom is 93 years old. The birth last Sunday of a son to one of his granddaughters caused a recasting of Ellison's record. Married three times; father of 50 children; grandfather of 126 children; great grandfather of 60 children, great great grandfather of 27 children. His youngest child is 11 years old and his oldest 65. Ellison was born in Clinton county, Ohio.

Gets Big Damages—William D. Bars, 65 years old, a day laborer, was awarded a verdict this week by a Champaign jury the sum of $58,168.54. The suit was against real estate dealers. Barnes' story was that he had been beguiled into going to Missouri to appraise a farm for the defendants and that this was a "frame up" to induce him to consent to a trade.

Bodies Taken Home—The bodies of 6,000 dead Chinese have just been taken on board ship at Los Angeles harbor to sail for their native soil. Some of them have been buried 50 years, but the bones are religiously preserved and taken back home. No Chinese burial in alien soil can close his eyes so it is the duty of their descendants to place the remains in native graves, so their eyes may close and they may be at peace.

Mrs. Janssen Dead—Mrs. Janssen, wife of Rev. Gerald J. Janssen, is dead at the family home in Waynesville, Ill. It was while the Illinois conference was in session in Jacksonville in 1910 that Rev. Mr. Janssen received his appointment to the Waynesville charge. The funeral will be conducted this afternoon by Rev. A. L. T. Ewert.

Graft on Pins—Liebert Tarkovskl has just been suspended from school for accepting commissions from a jewelry firm for class pins. He is president of the senior class of the Tukey High school of Chicago.
